Vol. 18 Animals in the Rainforest

From the tiny hummingbird to the strongest bird of prey, from the cosy sloth to the lightning-fast jaguar, from the industrious leaf-cutter ant to the largest tarantula in the world: no other habitat is as rich in species as the rainforest. Where does its name come from? Why is the habitat increasingly under threat and which fascinating animals live there? Beginning readers can learn about this all by themselves with simple texts. A reading quiz at the end of each chapter shows whether they have understood what they have read. This makes learning to read fun!

First Reading easy! Vol. 17 Animals at Night

When we are fast asleep, nature comes alive outside. In the forest and in the garden, many animals use the darkness to go hunting. We can only very rarely observe them doing this. This book for beginner readers gives a great insight into the lives of nocturnal animals. Which animals can you hear at night? How do bats manage to navigate in the dark? Why can owls fly silently? An exciting reading journey through the night for reading level 1. With an extra-large font, exciting pictures and a reading quiz at the end of each chapter, learning to read is even more fun!
