TESSLOFF

Because Knowledge Empowers!

Dear colleagues,

All of us know how powerful books can be. They can transport us to distant worlds, expand our horizon or simply entertain us. For children, they are an important part of their development. Reading is an essential skill that takes a lot of practise and effort. And above all, it takes some really good books!

At TESSLOFF, we firmly believe that knowledge is the key to unlocking every child's potential. Our non-fiction books encourage children to ask questions, explore and develop their own opinions. They are not only a source of knowledge, but also a tool for children to become confident, informed and engaged individuals.

Our new programme is full of titles that children will love. If you have any inquiries or questions about our novelties or backlist titles, feel free to contact us to learn more! Have fun discovering and stay curious!

Dive in, discover more!

- Real discoveries, a thrilling reading adventure: the work of a research diver told as an adventure story
- A journey into the fascinating world of cave diving in Mexico

Dr. Floh Dives In! The Treasure of the Cenote

The research diver: Dr. Florian Huber

He is an underwater archaeologist, research diver, and adventurer. When he's not diving, he writes books and appears on camera for TV documentaries. You're guaranteed to find him near water.

The author: Benjamin Schreuder

He wrote screenplays for TV series and published two award-winning graphic novels. When he's not writing, he likes to spend the summer most of all along the fjords of Norway.

The illustrator: Ines Korth

She's very active as an illustrator and author in the children's and young adult book field. She loves adventure stories, big trees, small goats, and color design.
